Facility Update

Members,

This is an unprecedented time we are living in right now and it is very sad to see as much damage as the Coronavirus has caused. At this point a few months ago North Carolina was in a great position as we were one of ten states with the lowest rate of disease. Unfortunately, that trend has not continued in the right direction. Record high hospitalizations and diagnoses were set during the month of July in our state. Several businesses around us have been hit with positive tests which is scary to see the virus continue to pop up and hit so close to home.

With this said, we have decided to adjust our operation once again. Although we have had success with our operational cleaning and sanitizing procedures, we have made a tough decision to close the golf shop and locker room access to anyone other than employees. This decision was made out of an abundance of caution as we continue to do everything that we can to flatten the curve of this deadly disease.

We will remove the inside dining tables and chairs from Champions Grille Sunday evening and block off access through the walk-through area of the clubhouse beginning Monday morning. Outside seating on the back patio will remain open and you can still access the grille bathrooms through the back patio door. We have added 2 floor fans to the back patio, not in an effort to promote socializing, but to help keep you cool during this warm summer. You can also utilize the pavilion at this time for some shade after your round.

We continue to ask that you call in all orders to help limit your time inside of Champions Grille. Please limit your interactions with others and remember to keep at least 6 feet of distance between you and others at all times.

Please know that this decision wasn't made lightly. We are doing everything we can to remain open and healthy and give you a much needed outlet away from home!

ideas and support to improve the club.*

Hello members,

I hope you have noticed everything going on at the club! There have been many golf course improvements including sod, tree removal, new steps at tee boxes, new penalty and out of bounds marking (the CGA/USGA recommended changing the OB to Penalty area along the right side of #5 & #6). The wooded area between holes 5/6/13 has been cleaned up and mulch will be installed. Daylilies have been planted at various areas on the course and grounds. Lots of course and grounds improvements.

A few golf tournaments are starting, so please enter and enjoy all of them.

Thanks to the staff for the efforts to continue improvements! Thank you for being a member and don't forget 2021 prepayments can be made in August! Save money !

Dear Members,

We have continued to provide you a great outlet away from home, at least for a few hours each day. I appreciate you bearing with us regarding the cart situation. Know that we are working overtime to provide sanitized carts and we are turning them from the course as quickly as we can. I appreciate you returning your carts as quickly after your round as you can. This helps us get them ready for the next tee time. If you are in a position where you can not immediately have a cart, try one of the following:

1. Put your bag onto a cart and alternate with the other person walking one hole and riding one hole.
2. If you must ride with another person from outside of your household, wear a mask while riding in the cart. You can remove this once social distancing can occur again.
3. Start your round walking and inform the golf shop. We will be happy to bring you one on the course as soon as they are available.

I look forward to seeing you around the club soon!

Rick Durham – Superintendent

As July comes to an end we are in great shape to end the summer and enter the fall. Greens have responded to the aggressive verticut at the beginning of the month. With the rains that came late spring and early summer greens were beginning to develop a little more thatch than we would prefer. To help remove the thatch mowing heights were lowered. Lowering the heights resulted in some severe scalping and unsightly greens. This was done intentionally and we are now beginning to see the benefits. Weekly topdressings also help control thatch and will continue thru the end of the growing season. This season has been a little unusual and is turning out to be one of the hottest on record. Irrigation upgrades are showing positive results and more are planned this fall and winter. Other areas that we are focusing on include landscaping, tree removal, and cart paths.

I would like to thank all of you for your comments and suggestions and as always I can be reached at rdurham@wildwoodgreen.com

Golf Cart Traffic on the Golf Course

We are asking you to honor the 90 degree rule and carts on path on all par 3s. If you violate the cart rules you will lose the privilege to rent a cart!

Many players have decided to violate the cart rules such as driving over and past railroad ties, cutting to the right of the path on #11, driving to the right of the tees on #12 and, in general, just ignoring the cart rules.

If your cart is seen violating the rules ONCE you will be placed on the watch list. The SECOND violation will result in a suspension of your privilege to rent a cart for 30 days.

We have invested over $1,000,000 in course improvements over the last 3 years and we are not going to allow you to continue to disrespect the hard work, investment, and improvements we have made

Thank you for your immediate attention to this matter.

WILDWOOD GREEN GOLF CLUB

August 2020

As golfers, we complain about the course. Miss a putt and we instinctively touch the green, tamping down a raised ball mark that only our eye can see. Hit it wide off the fairway and we're likely to comment on the consistency of the rough. Patchy. Burned out. Trampled down. Even if we get to play a U.S. Open-level course like Winged Foot, where the rough is thick and pristine, we're likely to complain that it's too thick! And then there are bunkers, where golfers are apt to note that the sand is different from hole to hole. Send it flying over the green? Not a bad swing — no sand in the bunker!

But what would it cost to maintain the course where all of our attributes as a golfer would shine? Alas, this isn't a column about fantasy but about money and golf. The cost to achieve the condition players expect — or will tolerate — ranges from about $500,000 a year for a daily-fee course to $1,000,000 a year for a private club, estimates Bob Randquist, chief operating officer of the Golf Course Superintendent's Association of America. But of course, it's also about location, location, location. Hawaii is, on average, the most expensive state in which to maintain a course, at $1.44 million a year. That's followed by tracks in the southwestern U.S., where the average yearly maintenance cost is $1.05 million. Because they have such a short season, courses in the north central states come in, on average, at a bargain $556,000.

WILDWOOD GREEN GOLF CLUB

August 2020

Wherever it is you play, the labor to maintain a loop represents 50 to 60 percent of the total cost.

“Where are there savings to be had? That’s a question owners ask all the time,” says a weary Bryan Bielecki, vice president of agronomy at Billy Casper Golf, which manages nearly 150 golf courses in the U.S. “You can’t spend less and expect the same exact product. You have to sacrifice something.”

If costs, inevitably, are going to run so high, where is the money best spent? The greens. They are the most essential element of any course, but because of labor and equipment they are also the most expensive things to maintain — even if some of our demands are a costly waste. Firm and fast is the golf standard for greens. That’s achieved by mowing, rolling and hand-watering the greens to prevent them from burning out. It’s time-consuming and pricey.

Yet every foot of green speed on a stimp meter slows play by seven minutes per group, says Adam Moeller, the director of the USGA’s greens section education committee. In other words, if your club has a mantra of playing a round in under four hours and 15 minutes, it might consider easing off the green speeds — and saving some money.

WILDWOOD GREEN GOLF CLUB

August 2020

Lest this seem pedestrian, Moeller says that even the USGA slows its roll at championship venues. "Because of pace-of-play issues we have at our championships, we'll sometimes slow the greens down," he says. "We have so many golfers to get through, and we want to use challenging hole locations."

Determining how often to cut the rough is, obviously, an important calculation when it comes to cost, but so too is how high you let it grow. The consensus is that any time the rough is thick and cut higher than three inches, play slows down. That hurts the bottom line.

How do private clubs, which carry a bigger tab, spend their money differently? More people and equipment. They might, for example, hire a horticulturist to handle the landscaping or a fleet of grounds-crew workers whose lone job is to fill fairway divots. Grooming the course of your dreams? That's a dream-team scenario.

Every foot of green speed on a stimp meter slows play by seven minutes per group. Though it's a public course, Pebble Beach is given the white-glove treatment, and it needs it. Typically, 60,000 rounds are played on it annually, in addition to three pro tournaments: the AT&T, the TaylorMade Pebble Beach Invitational and the PURE Insurance Championship. "It doesn't slow down," says Chris Dalhamer, the director of golf course maintenance at Pebble Beach. "Our biggest event is in February, which is one of our wettest months of the year. We have a staff that knows how to react in any situation."

WILDWOOD GREEN GOLF CLUB

August 2020

In preparation for last year's United States Open, the fourth big event competed at Pebble in 2019, Dalhamer increased the grounds staff by six, for a total crew of 34. During tournament week he had added even more help — nearly 100 assistants and superintendents from top courses around the country.

"It makes it pretty neat to have these guys come in and assist us in whatever we want," he says. "If it gets sunny and hot, we can send guys out on hoses."

That guy spraying the green may be the head superintendent at the next U.S. Open venue, which goes a long way to explaining how perfection is achieved.

For clubs that don't host U.S. Opens — and don't charge $575 a round — there are ways to get by with less. Let the fairways grow and the ball roll slow! You may get to the 19th hole faster, too.

An ideal handicap chair is a dedicated volunteer looking to pass on their knowledge to others and ensure that everyone's handicap index represents their true potential ability.

The Volunteer Handicap Committee will work with the golf shop professionals in adjusting scores, posting scores and making sure the player's handicap index is current for tournaments.

WWG Interclub Season Update

After a 2 month delay due to the COVID situation, the WWG interclub teams have been very active. Team 1, captained by Carl Hiller, got off to a slow start against Falls Village Blue, but then won their next four matches against Riverwood, Lochmere 1, Falls Village Blue and Riverwood. The team has accumulated 216.0 points and has one of the top rankings in the league. Team #2, captained by Mark Nordin, also lost their first match against Falls Village Green, but then swept the next three matches against Lochmere 2, Eagle Ridge, and Falls Village Green. They have accumulated 164.5 points. Both teams are playoff eligible.

The two senior interclub teams (age 55 and over) are also doing very well. Senior Team 1, captained by Trent Rhyne, has won both of its away matches against Riverwood and Lochmere. They have accumulated 86.5 points. Senior Team 2, captained by Tony Herring, dominated their initial match against Devils Ridge, but then dropped the next two matches against The Preserve and The Neuse. The match against The Neuse was lost by a single point. However, it was highlighted by Dee Blankenhorn making a hole in one. Last week Senior Team 2 won at Devil's Ridge to bring their overall record to 2 - 2 with a total of 165.5 points.

The interclub season will end in September. Hopefully all four teams will be headed for the playoffs.
